Rich in History

Counties trace their roots to the English of a thousand years ago. Serving a dual function, the county, or shire, acted as the administrative arm of the national government as well as the citizens' local government. The structural form of the shire was adopted along the eastern seaboard of North America by the colonists and adapted to suit the diverse economic and geographic needs of each of the colonies.

When our national government was formed, the framers of the Constitution did not provide for local governments. Rather, they left the matter to the states. Subsequently, early state constitutions generally conceptualized county government as an arm of the state. The English shire or county plan was used by William Penn when dividing Pennsylvania into civil units. Politics was a subject never discussed by the people in the early days. Nearly all county officers were appointed by the governor, and no conventions were held to nominate the few elected offices. When Westmoreland County was formed on February 26, 1773 by the Act of Assembly, Pennsylvania was a British province. Arthur St. Clair represented the Penn family interests in western Pennsylvania. The same statute that created Westmoreland County also designated Hanna's Town, as a temporary seat. Robert Hanna and two others voted in favor of this site.

Arthur St. Clair

On April 6, 1773, the first English court west of the Alleghenies was held in Robert Hanna's tavern. The form of court and government was preserved and altered from which they were accustomed. Hanna was presiding judge, and Arthur St. Clair served as Justice, Prothonotary, Register, Recorder, and Clerk of the new county. County Commissioners were elected at large rather than from defined districts, and a shire-reeve (today's sheriff) served as president of the shire court, tax collector, and steward of the royal estates in the shire/county.

Today, Westmoreland County has 12 departments with elected officials, amongst other various offices that have been set up over time to control the county's finances, lands and parks, and public safety. The county has been rapidly undertaking programs related to child welfare, consumer protection, economic development, planning and zoning, and record keeping, to name just a few.

Where the money comes from . . .

County revenues totaled $298,709,880 in 2012. The chart above shows the breakdown of revenues by category.

Grants are the significant source of revenue for the County, accounting for 27.5% of governmental basis. For the first time in recent history, grants have not outpaced taxes as sources of governmental revenue. This is due to cutbacks at the federal and state levels. The current budget environment warrants continued concern that "budget-cutting" at the state and federal levels may further affect county revenues.

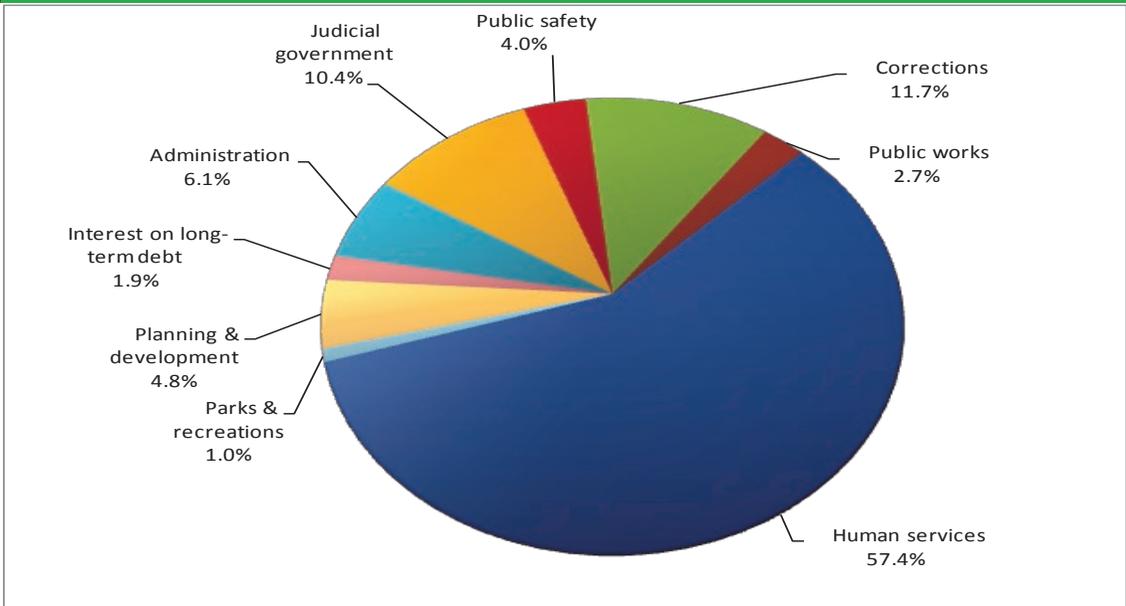

Taxes presented are primarily real estate taxes, which total $80,895,105. The County also levies a hotel tax which generated $1,142,587 in 2012. Hotel tax proceeds are dedicated to fund tourism in the region.

Charges for services represent fees, costs, fines, and user charges assessed by county agencies according to policy or law. Examples of this category would be court fines & costs, park pavilion rentals, marriage license fees, and gun permits.

Investment earnings represent the interest realized on idle cash placed with various financial institutions pursuant to the County's cash management strategy. The low interest rate environment has impeded the County's efforts to invest its idle cash. Consequently, investment earnings represent a paltry 0.5% of governmental revenues.

County Expenses totaled $297,318,937 for 2012. The chart shows the breakdown of expenses by function.

The Human Services function is by far the largest area of expense of the County, encompassing Children & Youth, Behavioral Health, Nursing Home, HealthChoices, and Aging. This function represents a series of mandates passed down by the state and federal government to be administered by the Board of Commissioners and their agents without the benefit of significant creative control. As a means to give the County greater flexibility the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is experimenting with Human Service Block Grants. Westmoreland County applied to be a pilot county for this program but was not selected. In the mean time, the County created a Human Services Director position which is designed to streamline the provision of human services in Westmoreland County.

The Board of Commissioners control over the "discretionary" aspects of the budget is probably less than 15% of the overall county budget. Therefore, it is important to closely monitor the activities in Harrisburg and Washington D.C. that have a direct impact on Westmoreland County Government. To that end, the County engages a lobbyist to represent its interests at both the state and federal levels. In addition the County maintains close relationships with our elected representatives and participates in a number of state and national associations whose mission its to keep the County informed and to represent the views of counties and agencies across the state and country.

Financial Summary

Financial Position and Outlook

Presented below is a summary of the County's financial position for governmental activities (financed mainly by taxes and grants) and business-type activities (financed mainly by fees charged to users) for the last three years. Net Position is the difference between total assets plus deferred outflow of resources and total liabilities. The level of net position over time may serve as an indicator of the financial health of an institution.

Assets	2012	2011	2010
Current assets:
Cash and investments	$ 66,939,546	$ 82,431,103	$ 86,506,936
Other current assets	77,467,855	75,044,940	67,023,732
Capital assets and other	147,820,365	149,790,473	150,815,039
Total assets	292,227,766	307,266,516	304,345,707

Total liabilities	164,104,845	170,789,877	167,934,202
Net Position	$ 137,867,582	$ 136,476,639	$ 136,411,505

Westmoreland County continues to enjoy a relatively strong financial position. The Board of Commissioners and other elected officials have been effective at controlling the growth of government spending during the last several years.

The County's net position slightly increased during 2012. This was due in part to active budgetary management employed by the Department of Financial Administration. The United States government and Commonwealth of Pennsylvania continue to struggle with budget issues that may impact Westmoreland County.

The near-term financial outlook for Westmoreland County continues to be guarded. While many aspects of the economy have seemed to stabilize, unemployment and the future roles of the federal and state government are issues of concern.

As mentioned on the preceding page, the Department of Financial Administration has played an increasingly important role in monitoring and controlling spending.

In spite of the fact that the Commonwealth slashed certain human service funding by 10% for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 2012, Westmoreland County has been able to absorb "hits" to the budget without raising taxes or implementing any serious service reductions.

Recorder of Deeds

The function of the Recorder of Deeds office is to record and permanently maintain all of the land records and documents entrusted to the office. The office also acts as a collection agent for Real Estate Transfer Tax.

The office of the Recorder of Deeds has undertaken efforts in the past few years to not only make the recording and researching process easier, but to also make additional documents available for the general public. The general public can now access documents that date back to 1850 both in office and through their website.

Westmoreland County's office of the Recorder of Deeds has become entirely computerized, and now holds the distinction of being one of two counties in the state where deeds are recorded and returned immediately. The installation of computers has also allowed the office to better coordinate with other government entities. County residents have also benefited from the installation of an additional computer in the fourth floor extension office, where individuals coming in to record documents are able to complete a final search of public records prior to the recording.

In addition to the computerization of the office, the Recorder of Deeds has also implemented extended hours for public access. The fifth floor annex office is open every morning, Monday thru Friday, at 8 am. The office closes at 4 pm on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, but offers extended hours on Tuesday and Thursday, when the office closes at 6 pm.

Searches for public records can be conducted at www.wcdeeds.us. Documents can be searched for using a simple or an advanced search. A simple search can be conducted using information such as name and date, document type, or instrument number. An advanced search allows you to further narrow the parameters of your search by Dollar Amounts, City/Municipality/Township, Lot Number, or Subdivision

The Recorder of Deeds website also provides all the pertinent information for Westmoreland County's recording requirements, the detailed process for how the document will be recorded as well as the fee schedule.

If you have any questions or comments, email access for the Recorder of Deeds can be found at:

GIS/Mapping

The Geographic Information System (GIS) Map Maintenance Department supplies the County Commissioners with current and accurate maps in order to satisfy the statutory requirements mandating the Commissioners to maintain maps for the purposes of property assessment. These maps indicate property boundaries used for taxing purposes.

In addition to the Commissioners, the Public Safety Department, engineers, gas companies, Planning Department and the public use the various maps to assist in decision making. The Tax Assessment

Office also relies on property maps for providing accurate property assessments for taxing purposes of the roughly 187,000 properties in Westmoreland County.

There are a variety of maps available. The increase in Marcellus Shale drilling in the county has increased the demand for maps by gas companies.

These maps enable gas companies to locate acceptable sites for gas wells and contact the necessary property owners to obtain access to the drilling site. For genealogists there are warrant maps dating back to the 1700's, a Frontier map dating from 1783 through 1825, Land Patent Index maps by townships and a Cemetery Index Map of Westmoreland County. Other maps available are road, property, topographical, coal, flood, and natural gas maps.

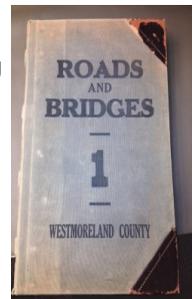

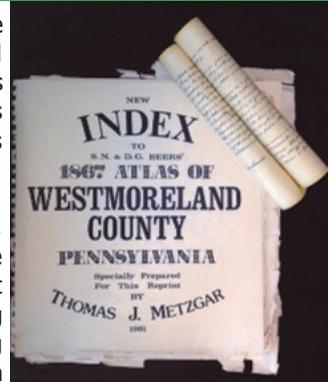

These maps are available to the public for viewing or for purchase. Paper maps are available at the Recorder of Deeds Office and online maps can be viewed in the GIS office. Maps can also be viewed online at www.wcgis.us. Currently, there is a public section and a subscriber section but the GIS website is being upgraded so that the public will have access to everything and there will be no subscriber section. Additional information such as the property card, name card, current deed, and photo of the property are also available on the GIS website. The current photos are provided by the Federal Government. The GIS Department is in the process of obtaining high-definition oblique photographs that will provide more detailed and accurate property information.

An application to combine parcels is also available on the GIS website.

Maps can be ordered by phone, email or by going to the office. For pricing information, visit the office or view the map fee schedule on the GIS website.

Tax Assessment Office

The Tax Assessment Office sets, maintains and certifies property tax assessments for all real property located within Westmoreland County. Tax assessments are utilized by the County, School Districts and Municipal Governments. The total assessment for all taxable properties in Westmoreland County for the 2012 tax year was $3,835,701,860, an increase of $26,129,600 over the 2011 tax year.

The Tax Assessment Office determines the assessment of a parcel by evaluating the value of the land and any improvements constructed on the property. As such, property owners should advise the Tax Assessment Office of any improvements added or removed, so the assessment of the property can be adjusted accordingly. Any taxpayer who believes the assessment set for their property is incorrect can file an appeal to the Westmoreland County Board of Assessment Appeals. Appeals must be filed on or before September 1st and are effective for the following year.

Appeals can also be filed within 40 days of a Notice of Change. Appeals are free to file and all necessary forms are available on the Tax Assessment Office website located at www.co.westmoreland.pa.us.

Taxpayers are also able to file for the Pennsylvania Homestead Exclusion under the Tax Relief Act. The Homestead Exclusion allows homeowners to have the tax assessment of the excluded property reduced by the amount of tax levied by the school district. To be eligible for the Homestead Exclusion the property must be the primary residence of the homeowner and the application must be filed with the Tax Assessment Office before March 1st. Once approved, it is only necessary to re-file if a change is made to the deed of the property.

The Tax Assessment Office also works in conjunction with the Office of Veterans Affairs to provide tax relief to disabled veterans. This exemption is available to veterans with a 100% service connected disability as well as the surviving spouse of a disabled veteran. The property must be the primary residence of the disabled veteran or surviving spouse to be eligible. In addition, if a surviving spouse is applying for this exemption the property must be solely owned by the surviving spouse and the spouse must not be remarried. The veteran and/or spouse must also meet the income criteria set by the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs. To request a disabled veteran exemption, call or visit the Office of Veterans Affairs.

The Tax Assessment Office is currently in the process of converting the assessment data for the county's approximately 187,000 parcels from paper to a Computer Assisted Mass Appraisal (CAMA) system. The tax information will be digitally stored and provide access to the property assessments, square footage, pictures and other documents related to the property.

Park Police

Created in 1964 to preserve property in the newly created park system, the Westmoreland County Park Police Department has grown into a full scale police agency that patrols property owned and leased under the geographical locations designated by the Westmoreland County Board of Commissioners by providing police protection throughout 1,040 square miles of Westmoreland County.

Currently, the department has twenty-three full-time officers, nine part-time officers, and one K-9 officer whom all work out of the Westmoreland County Courthouse, the Public Works Building, and the South Grande Boulevard Campus. All officers are certified through the Municipal Police Officers Education and Training Commission (M.P.O.E.T.C.), and are Act 120 certified. In addition, officers attend numerous law enforcement training seminars, further qualifying their duties and responsibilities within the department.

The Westmoreland County Park Police provides security services to the Westmoreland County Courthouse in the form of metal detector and X-ray machine staffing. Police department staffing is also provided at our Juvenile Service Center. Also within jurisdiction are ten county owned or leased parks that officers are responsible for patrolling. All patrols are conducted on foot, by the use of an ATV, or by vehicle. Within the department, there is also a Mountain Bike Patrol-Unit, responsible for patrols within the parks system. Aside from patrols, Park Police officers are also responsible for answering calls, aiding and assisting individuals, and investigating crimes at all county locations while enforcing Federal, State and County Ordinances at the same time as working with various law enforcement agencies.

In 2012 the Westmoreland County Park Police was given the opportunity to receive a canine at no cost through the Pennsylvania Region 13 Counter Terrorism Task Force. All canines were hand picked through the Allegheny County K-9 Academy. K-9 Rex is trained primarily in explosive detection and is cross trained in patrol/tracking. Officer William Meyers and Rex went through nine weeks of training together and continue training twice a month in Pittsburgh.
